Flexibilität

Modularität

The image shows a modern, multi-story building with a facade composed of light-colored, rectangular panels arranged in a grid. The windows are dark and rectangular, creating a rhythmic pattern. The building is set against a twilight sky with soft colors. In the foreground, there is a glass-enclosed entrance area with a white canopy supported by pillars. A car is parked near the entrance, and there are some construction barriers and a blue sign on the left. The overall scene is a mix of urban architecture and natural light.
